UNIVERSITY BASKET BALL SEASON HAS BEEN OPENED

UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA, TUCSON, Dec. 13.—The university basketball season opened officially Monday afternoon when the Kappa Sigma fraternity quintet won from the representatives of South Hall dormitory in a first game, 34 to 18. Immediately following this game the Sigma Alpha Epsilon team met and defeated the Tau Delta Psi by a narrow margin of one point, the score being 16 to 15. In the evening Sigma Nu team came out victorious in another close game, winning from the Arizona Hall team by a score of 13 to 11.

These are the first three games of a basketball schedule between the fraternities and dormitories, and later an interclass contest. A great deal of interest has been shown and a real scrap will be assured in the Freshmen-Sophomore game.

At the sound of Referee Porter's whistle, the Kappa Sigs and South Hall lined up and were soon in the midst of a fast and furious game, which proved to be the most interesting of the three. The Kappa Sig five bid strong for the winners of the tournament. Pistor was responsible for the larger part of his team's scoring and his work at center was good. Tom Wallace played a heady game also. Overton and Shumway were the bright light of the dormitory team. They, with their teammates put up a scrappy battle and their opponents worked for every point they gained.

The games will continue throughout the week, two in the afternoon and one in the evening. Application for a local chapter of the American Association of Engineers in Tucson has been sent to national headquarters with 85 names attached. These include every member of the University staff engaged in engineering or scientific work. The organization of local chapters elsewhere in the southwestern district, which includes Arizona, New Mexico and Texas west of the Pecos river, is progressing rapidly, and it is believed that there will be over 1000 chapters within the next month or two. A district convention will be held in Globe-Miami January 9, 10 and 11, where a splendid opportunity will be offered to visit the Roosevelt dam and to inspect the wonderful mining, smelting and ore-dressing plants in this district.

January 19 to 24, inclusive, is the date set for the Eighth Annual Farmers' and Housekeepers' week, according to the announcement of E. P. Taylor, director of agricultural extension service at the university.

This is an annual event which brings to the campus each year large numbers of farmers and farmers' wives. A program is to be provided for the benefit of the farmers, stockmen and their wives. The instruction given will consist of practical talks and demonstrations.

Twenty club achievement champions will receive free trips to Tucson during January to attend the Second Annual Boys' and Girls' short course. This has been made possible through the joint courtesy of the Arizona Bankers' association, the chamber of commerce of Phoenix and the extension service at the university.

These trips have been offered at the close of the club season for the last four years. Usually, the trip lasts three days during that time, every effort is made, by blending instruction and good times, to make their stay pleasant as well as profitable. This short course is offered by the regular Farmers' and Housekeepers' week and these champions are always urged to stay.

The memorial fountain, the gift of a friend of the university who does not wish to have his name disclosed, is nearing completion. The stone work is entirely finished and the finishing touches are being put on.

The fountain occupies a central position in front of the main building and will be a splendid addition to the beauty of the campus. It is built of native malpais stone from the Tucson mountains and gray synthetic stone resembling granite. Concealed lights will play on the water at night as it sprays from the center and pours into the reservoir. A circular grass plot will be set about two feet above the ground, between the outer wall and the reservoir. Seats will be made on the eight sides, and the whole will be enclosed by a small hedge about a foot high.

A dedication service will be held when the fountain is entirely completed, probably about the beginning of the year.

Approximately 200,000 carcasses of pork are required each year to supply the needs of the people in Arizona, according to Dr. R. H. Williams, animal husbandman, College of Agriculture.

"It is doubtful," he states, "if there are more than 30,000 hogs in the state at the present time, so that the home supply of pork products amounts to approximately one-fifth of the actual demands."

A packing plant is nearing completion at Phoenix, where they plan to handle many more than the total number of hogs produced in the state. Believing that the number of hogs will be increased since Arizona has such favorable conditions for hog raising, the packers feel that it is a safe proposition to invest money on a plant for slaughtering hogs and curing their products. This should be such good assurance to stockmen that they will be willing to raise more hogs.

South Hall Open House

The boys in South Hall held open house Saturday night from 7:30 till 9:30. Christmas decorations were used in the reception hall and here and there in the rooms. One of the rooms downstairs was called the Christmas room. Crepe paper covered the lights so that a soft red glow pervaded the room. Against the white background of the window opposite the door was a large red cross.

In nearly every room was found a new feature. Every room is bright and snug and clean. Each one is equipped with an adjustable desk chair, two dressers, two chairs, a study table, and a restful, soft gray rug. Surprise and delight were expressed again and again by the girls, for there are no study chairs nor rugs in the women's dormitories.

The punch bowl in the reception hall was presided over by two black face comedians.

Major Boniface and Dr. Leonard, who live in South Hall, acted as hosts. At 9:30 the crowd adjourned to the gymnasium where a student body dance took place.

In assembly on Wednesday, Miss Eldridge, secretary of the National Nurses' association, spoke on "Nursing As a Profession" and gave an illuminating account of the remarkable development in this most valuable and important branch of work during the last 25 years. She told of the great service rendered the community by the trained nurse in private nursing, in institutional work, and in public health physical, mental and moral fitness is required of those who take up this profession. She urged college women to take up nursing, because there is an ever-widening field of activity open to the graduate nurse and the profession as well paid and honorable as any career open to women today.

The following students have been elected to serve on the various committees to make arrangements for the 1920 commencement exercises:

Senior Assembly committee: Ralph Herndon, chairman; Dorothy Heighton, Edward Ziegler.

Senior class gift: Kathryn McKean, Russell McGinnis, Carter Porter.

Cap and gown committee: Carl Rupert, Effie Davey, Alice Brereton.

Social committee: Norma Gilbert, Christine Sweeney, Gertrude Clark, Raymond Beard and Fritz Pistor.

The University Girls' Glee club is engaged in rehearsing the Cantata "Hesperus," by Brewer. The club has made one public appearance in the Auditorium and was well received by an appreciative audience.

Eleven delegates will go from the University to the International Volunteer Convention at Des Moines, Iowa, December 31 to January 4. This will be the eighth student volunteer convention which has been held. Almost all the prominent colleges of the country will send delegations. It is estimated that about 7,000 will attend and many of the most prominent educators of the country.

The colleges of the country are to be called upon presently to cast a referendum vote on the peace treaty. A telegram has come to Dr. von KlenzSmith's desk which says the vote is to be taken January 13.

University Briefs
There was a regular meeting of the Sock and Buskin club in the auditorium last night. The program consisted of fancy and folk dances by Miss Hermione Hoge and Miss Fern Hills. Misses Zula Cooper and Lucy Bowen, Miss Josephine Larkin gave a series of readings between dances, among which were: "I Just Got Back from New York Town," "I Love That Car; It Was My Own," and "A Little Boy Eating Grapes."

Recognition service for the new members of the University Y. W. C. A. was held Wednesday night in North Hall parlors. The services were conducted by Ellen Boulton, president of the Y. W. It was a very impressive ceremony, given entirely by the light of candles. The cabinet members stood in front, dressed entirely in white.

Each new member received a candle and passed inline to have it lighted by the president. About 50 new girls are now active members of the Y. W. C. A. In Finland, lawyers, before they can obtain government employment, must serve as policemen for the purpose of gaining practical experience.
